Description

This panther brooch features a sculptural feline figure standing upon a polished onyx disc. The sleek form of the panther is decorated with marcasite stones and highlighted with emerald eyes, creating a striking contrast between the dark base and the shimmering stonework.

Part of the Windsor Collection, the design draws inspiration from jewellery associated with the Duchess of Windsor and the dramatic animal motifs popular in early twentieth-century design. The addition of a clear faceted crystal drop beneath the figure introduces movement and brilliance, giving the brooch a distinctive decorative presence.

This sterling silver brooch is handcrafted using traditional jewellery-making techniques. The onyx base, marquessette stones, emerald eyes and crystal drop are carefully set and assembled, while the piece is hand finished and polished to enhance the sculptural lines and fine detailing of the design.
